Description:

Description of project including duties performed:

The whole thing was to teach brazilian high school students to learn english through bible lessons, and that's why we went to help them through the sabbath class. First we sing some Christian songs, followed by a quick icebreaker dynamic that consists of translating a verse to portuguese correctly in a short time. Later then, I went in and gave a lesson with a reflection about Joshua and the gibeonites, giving deep insight about topics like relying on god, dealing only with the truth and being humble. Overall it was really good to develop soft skills like speaking in public, working in teams and weekly studies, since these lessons are separated in days. The community of the boarding students in IAPE was affected by our actions by making the job of the English teachers easier during class, since the applied type of English that we made them practice isn't the kind you'd normally have at a normal english class.
