Description:

Description of project including duties performed:

This year I participated in the Mission Agency, directed by Pastor Rafael Barreto and Isabela Dayane. The Mission Agency consists of a missionary school where students learn how to be a missionary.

In the agency, we have classes on Saturday afternoons, where we learnt a lot about what we need to be a missionary, what are the ways to do it, where we can serve, and learnt about cultural shocks in transcultural missions. We had visitors that live in a transcultural mission and heard a lot of testimonies about how they live, what they do there, and what their advice is for those who want to go on a transcultural mission. Another thing we studied was the book Passport for Mission, we studied a group of chapters each class and then we made some tests.

Other things we did in the mission agency was to practice the mission in an asylum, in a public education school, and bringing the public education school students to our boarding school to play, eat and get to know our school (Welcome to My House). We could choose one or more of these projects, so I chose Welcome to My House and the one where we went to the school. I went to the public school two times and participated in Welcome to My House three times. The Agency has the Tamandaré Mission too, where we spend a week in Tamandaré (a city) and participate in a lot of workshops, but I didn't participate in that one this year.
