Description:

Description of project including duties performed:

One community service that I did in high school involved teaching young children and teens in the Sabbath School on how to use and perfect their English. We were teaching basic information, promises, agreements and so forth, while trying to keep it interactive. Always we aimed to have them interact with the learning such as translating sentences written on the board themselves or worksheets of English that they filled in. This made the class a fun way to learn, without getting bored, while applying the GIA key values such as integrity, honor, respect, and dignity.
